

Die globale Herausforderung

8. Symposium der schweizerischen Gesundheitszusammenarbeit
Chronische Krankheiten – neue globale Herausforderung
Basel, 10. November 2009

ReferentInnen

Ruth Bell is a Senior Research Fellow in the Department of Epidemiology and Public Health at University College London. She was a member of the scientific Secretariat and final report writing team within the Commission on Social Determinants of Health (CSDH, 2005 - 2008) that was set up by the World Health Organization. She is active in research and advisory roles to advocate and implement the global health agenda for health equity set out by the CSDH.

Contact: r.bell@ucl.ac.uk

Carole Buccella est diplômée de l'Ecole Cantonale Vaudoise de Physiothérapie de Lausanne en 1989, Carole Buccella s'est ensuite spécialisée en pédiatrie et neuropédiatrie (méthode Bobath), et en thérapie respiratoire infantile. Elle a travaillé pendant 13 ans à Bienne, sa ville natale, dans les différents services de l'hôpital pour enfants de la Fondation Wildermeth et au Centre de Développement et Neuroréhabilitation pédiatrique. Engagée par l'agence de coopération suisse Groupe Volontaires Outre-Mer (GVOM), elle travaille au Salvador depuis 2003 au sein du programme de réhabilitation de l'association ALGES (Association de Blessés de Guerre de El Salvador) et de l'association Los Angelitos (association de parents d'enfants handicapés du Salvador, créée en 2004), tous deux partenaires locaux de GVOM. Elle s'occupe principalement de l'attention à l'enfant handicapé dans les zones rurales défavorisées du pays, dans le cadre de la « Réhabilitation à Base Communautaire » (RBC).

Contact : carole\_buccella@hotmail.com

Ambassador Martin Dahinden (*1955) took over the position of Director-General at the Swiss Agency for Development and Cooperation on 1 May 2008. Prior to this, Martin Dahinden headed the FDFA's Directorate of Corporate Management (from 2004), after having worked as Director of the Geneva International Centre for Humanitarian Demining (from 2000 to 2004). Martin Dahinden entered the diplomatic service in 1987. During his career, he held assignments in Geneva as member of the Swiss Delegation to GATT, at the Swiss Embassy in Paris, as Deputy to the Swiss ambassador in Nigeria, and was temporarily posted at the Swiss Mission to the UN in New York. At the Head Office in Bern, he worked at the FDFA's Service for Disarmament Policy and Nuclear Issues, as Head of the OSCE Service of Political Affairs Division I, and held the post of Deputy Head of the OSCE Coordination Unit during the Swiss Chairmanship of the OSCE in 1996. The following year, he was sent abroad as Deputy Head of the Swiss Mission to NATO in Brussels. Before entering the diplomatic service, Dr. Martin Dahinden studied Economics (Business Administration) at the University of Zurich. He worked as a post-graduate assistant at the University, and subsequently was employed with a bank and later with a publishing house.

Jochen Ehmer, 39 Jahre, lebt mit Familie in Basel, Allgemeinarzt mit Zusatzausbildung in Humanitärer Hilfe (Bochum, Aix-en-Provence), Tropenmedizin (London) und HIV – medizin (Johannesburg). Erfahrung in der Entwicklungszusammenarbeit bei Caritas, dem Amt für Humanitäre Hilfe der Europäischen Union, als Länderkoordinator von SolidarMed Mocambique und seit 2007 auf der Geschäftsstelle von SolidarMed verantwortlich für die HIV Programme sowie das Länderprogramm Mocambique.

Kontakt: j.ehmer@solidarmed.ch

Marine Gambaryan is Armenian origin, graduated in Medicine at Yerevan State Medical University and made her postgraduate specialist training in Pulmonology in St. Petersburg, Russia. She graduated in 2001 for the Master of Public Health at the Netherlands School of Public Health. Currently she is a lead researcher in the field of Epidemiology and Prevention of non-communicable diseases at the National Research Centre for Preventive Medicine Moscow. Beside this she worked as a consultant in Health projects financed by International donors like EU/TACIS in Russia and for Swiss Red Cross International Cooperation in Romania and the Republic of Moldova.

Contact: mghambarian@hotmail.com

Pauline Guimet is a French medical doctor, trained in public health, diabetes care and health education. She's been working as technical advisor on disabling diseases for Handicap International, a non governmental organisation, where she's been providing technical support to teams implementing projects on diabetes in developing countries.

Contact: pguimet@handicap-international.org

Lina Langer is a medical doctor and a sociologist M.A. She graduated in Political Science and Sociology at the University of Konstanz and Bielefeld and in Medicine at the University of Köln/Germany in 1987. She worked as sociologist for the German Federal Centre of Health Education in Köln and as coordinator of the Bonn University Hospital Cancer Center she was leading the campaign 'Europe against cancer' financed by the EU. Since 1996 she is working for different donors in transition countries in Asia/Central Asia and South/Eastern Europe as consultant and as Coordinator of programmes with emphasis on Health and women's issues. She is responsible for the programme of SRC in Romania and the Republic of Moldova since 2005.

Contact: dir.fsmro@email.de

Bettina Schwethelm is the Executive Director of Partnerships in Health, a Swiss Foundation. Since 1989, she has worked with health development programmes in maternal, child and adolescent health, communicable and non-communicable diseases, and psycho-social care in the Americas, Africa, Europe and Central Asia. As Director of Maternal and Child Health Programs with Project HOPE, she became a founding member of the American NGO network, the CORE Group, dedicated to building NGO capacities in health. Today, she also serves on the Board of Medicus Mundi, Switzerland.

Contact: bsch@partnershipsinhealth.ch

Dr. med. Beat Stoll MPH ist Vorstandsmitglied bei Medicus Mundi Schweiz und arbeitet am Institut für Sozial- und Präventivmedizin der Universität Genf.

Kontakt: beat.stoll@unige.ch

Marc Suhrcke (1968) is a Professor and Chair in Public Health Economics with the University of East Anglia in Norwich (UK) since 2008. He is also the health economics lead in the new UKCRC funded centre of excellence in public health research, the Centre for Diet and Activity Research (CEDAR), a collaboration of the Universities of Cambridge and East Anglia. Previously he has worked as an economist with the WHO European Office for Investment for Health and Development (Venice), where he was in charge of the 'Health and Economic Development'-area of work. His preceding professional experience includes: the UNICEF Innocenti Research Centre (Florence), Hamburg University, the European Bank for Reconstruction and Development (London), the Centre for European Policy Studies (Brussels), and the European Commission (Brussels). His background is in economics and his main current research interests are: health and economic development, economics of prevention, socio-economic determinants and inequalities of health.

Contact: M.Suhrcke@uea.ac.uk

Janet Voûte is the Partnerships Adviser to the Assistant Director General of Noncommunicable Diseases and Mental Health at WHO. She is responsible for enhancing partnership activities across the cluster as well as for designing a new partnership strategy in support of the Global NCD Action Plan. From 2000 to 2008, she served as the Chief Executive Officer of the World Heart Federation, a non-governmental organization network of 195 cardiology societies and heart foundations. Ms. Voûte is a featured speaker on partnerships, cardiovascular disease, obesity and overweight, as well as workplace wellness, at meetings of the World Economic Forum, OECD and the European Commission, among others. Before launching her career in public health, Ms. Voûte was Vice-President and Managing Partner of Bain & Company, Switzerland an international strategy consulting firm. Ms. Voûte holds a Masters Degree in International Politics and Economics from the Johns Hopkins School of Advanced International Studies in Washington DC, USA and a Bachelor's Degree in Political Science from Smith College in Northampton, Massachusetts, USA.

Contact: voutej@who.int