This highly anticipated new edition of Glenn Laverack's Public Health has been fully revised throughout to provide readers with a practical understanding of how to help others to empower themselves in public health practice.

The book explores the key concept of power and offers practical solutions for transforming professional power relations; it introduces a methodology to plan, implement and evaluate public health programmes; and it investigates the implications of empowerment on public health practice.

With two new chapters on 'Patient Empowerment' and 'Helping Migrant Populations to Become Empowered', this is a timely and valuable literary addition that has been designed for those who want to work in a more empowering way.
